Within Ace of Being Hurlled to Death.

Three-year-old Eleanor Reid Came Near Being Victim of a Runaway Horse Friday Morning.

REMARKABLE NERVE DISPLAYED BY CHILD. IT WILL BE LOCATED AT HARDINSBURG.

Little Eleanor Reid, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Reid, of this city, came within an ace of being hurled to death Friday morning of last week. Had it not been for the remarkable presence of mind and self-possession displayed by the child death would have been certain.

Eleanor and her mother were going out for a drive. The run-about and the horse were standing in front of Dr. F. M. Smith's residence. Eleanor had gotten in the buggy when a bus passed by, with bell ringing. The horse blinched to the run-about became frightened, slipped its bridle, made a sharp turn, face about, and darted up the street. Eleanor threw herself back on the seat, feet propped against the bottom of the buggy, with arms stretched full length to each side and her hands holding a death grip upon the arm rests. In this position Eleanor was hurled through town, passing men powerless to help her. Mr. Jake Kelly, from Holt, was standing on the corner by the Bank of Cloverport, saw the peril of the child, ran to the buggy and grappled one of the shafts. In doing this he was thrown to the ground and run over. The horse turned the corner at the Bank and was forced against the building wall by several men, here Dr. Smith ran to the child and watched her from the run-about. Eleanor displayed no emotion until she had walked half a square then she began to cry for her mother.

EVERY MAN HAS RIGHT TO KNOW

Position of Any Candidate Running for Office, Says Ben Johnson.

GIVES HIS POSITION ON WHISKY QUESTION.

The following letter taken from Springfield Sun goes further to prove Ben Johnson's stand on the whisky question:

"Bardonia, Ky., August 14, 1906.—Mr. H. A. Humphrey, Chairman of the Anti-Saloon League of Nelson county, Bloomfield, Ky. Dear Sir:—I have your communication of yesterday asking me to state my position upon the question of 'Local Option' in Nelson county. I recognize the right of every man, and especially of every large number of men banded together for the accomplishment of any lawful purpose, to have an expression from every man who is a candidate before the people for executive or legislative office as to the position occupied by him upon any question of public policy in which the individual voter or a collection of voters may be interested.

"Therefore, I answer your communication by saying that I have, upon every occasion since I arrived at the age of twenty-one years, when the question was submitted to a vote of the people of this community, voted in favor of 'Local Option' and that I intend to vote likewise upon the question at the election to be held in this county on September 1, 1906, and at any other time in the future when the question may be submitted to a vote in a district where I am entitled to a vote.

"Yours truly,
BEN JOHNSON.

County Fair For Breckenridge.

Success of Masonic Picnic at Hardinsburg Has Started Talk of One—Morris Beard Says Capital Can be Raised.

IT WILL BE LOCATED AT HARDINSBURG.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Aug. 21.—(Special.)—The success of the big Masonic picnic has started again the talk of a county fair to be located here. Many of the best business men of the town are favorably inclined toward the enterprise, and it seems now that it will certainly materialize. Morris H. Beard says that there would be no difficulty experienced in securing the necessary capital sufficient to launch the project. Several men have already indicated their intention to take stock in the proposed fair company. That it will be a go seems to be assured. Look out for the county fair to be held at Hardinsburg some time during the fall of 1907.

Sold Good Horses.

Allen S. Edelen, of Burgin, sold at Danville last week to Louisiana and other southern buyers three fast pacing mares from four to six years old. All of them have worked miles over the Harrodsburg track in better than 2:30 and one had shown a 2:12 gait. They will be used by their buyers as matinee horses. Mr. Edelen says there is at present a strong demand in the Southern States for slick-going pacers with size and bone.

Was John Groves Wheat Yield on His Farm at Rome—1,200 Bushels Oats on 40 Acres.

Rome, Ind., August 10, 1906.
Cannellion Telephone.—Friend Early: enclosed you will find check for two dollars to be credited on my subscription.

I have finished threshing and have the pleasure to report that I threshed twenty-nine hundred and thirty bushels of No. 2 wheat from one hundred and forty-five acres, which was an average of twenty and nearly one-fifth bushels to the acre, which is quite a good average on so many acres in which there was a good deal of thin land. My best yield was after clover. My poorest yield was where I sowed after wheat and there I used fertilizer at the rate of 150 lbs. per acre, but this did not bring any of wheat after wheat up to over 15 bushels per acre.

I had one field of 5 acres that made nearly 40 bushels per acre. I used altogether only 3 tons of fertilizer.

I threshed 1,200 bushels oats from forty acres without fertilizer, a pretty good turn-out for this season. I have not sold either my wheat or oats but am holding for a better price.

I did the threshing with my own machine.

Very respectfully,
Joshua H. Groves.

Would Have Been Mashed Into a Jelly.

Had They Held Their Position a Second Longer—Hair-Breadth Escape of Henry Gibbs and J. D. Babbage, Jr.

ACCIDENT OCCURRED IN NEWS PRESS ROOM.

Part of the main line shafting, carrying four heavy iron pulleys in the News press room, while being suspended in mid-air with ropes Saturday afternoon, fell and crashed into the floor, resulting in a hair-breadth escape of two of the employees, Henry Gibbs and Jno. D. Babbage, Jr. The shafting and pulleys will weigh 800 pounds. It was being taken down for repairs when the crash came, and the two men were taken unaware. Both had been, just the moment before, directly under the shafting, and had they remained there a second longer, both would have met instant death by being mashed into a jelly by the terrific force of the heavy shafting. The crash caused damages, but the plant was put in running order by 6 o'clock Monday evening.

MILKING COWS BY MACHINERY.

Test Made in Kansas State College Proves That Venture is a Success

A test has been completed in the dairy department of the Kansas State Agricultural College which proves that milking machines are a success. The machines were installed and the test conducted by Prof. O. E. Kri. in charge of the State dairy work. The machines operate by means of vacuum. A three horse-power gasoline engine runs a vacuum pump which exhausts the air out of a system of pipes. These pipes run along the sides of the cows, and the milking machines are attached to this pipe by flexible hose. The vacuum created by the pump runs a pulsator on the top of the can and this produces an intermittent suction in the cups attached to the teats of the cows. The suction draws the milk from the cow through the rubber tube and deposits it in the can. The milk is not exposed to the air, hence absolutely sanitary milk can be produced. Kansas City Star.

CARE OF OVER-HEATED ANIMALS

In New York Fire Department Cool Truck Horses With Streams Of Cold Water.

Recognizing the fact that hot weather serves to work the greatest hardship upon the most miserable slaves of the city—the horses—the government of New York makes provision for their care and comfort. The work is carried on through the fire department. When the hot season comes with its sweltering days every fire station in the city secures a place for the refreshment of tired beasts of burden. A line of hose is run from the nearest water plug and the firemen spend their spare time sprinkling cool water over the heads and backs of the thousands of over-heated animals that apply. They are given cool water to drink and a shady spot in which to rest. It is one of the best animal charities of New York and it is believed that it will be adopted in other cities.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1906.

William J. Bryan's last letter covers the country in and round about Galilee where "Christ spent most of his time and where most of his mighty works were done." It is an interesting letter and gives a great deal of history of the times of Christ. Mr. Bryan tells about the village of Nazareth "nestling among the hills of Galilee" where "Christ's boyhood and young manhood were spent." From a high hill just outside the town Christ could look to the west and see the Mediterranean, and to the east was the great sea of Galilee. From this scene were formed many of his parables which pictured the every day life of the people. Mr. Bryan closes his letter with a visit to the Mount of Beatitudes where it is supposed Christ delivered his great discourse, the Sermon on the Mount. In commenting on this sermon Mr. Bryan says:

"Whether, as a matter of fact, Christ, 'seeing the multitude' ascended to this place I know not, but it furnishes an environment fit for the sublime code of morality presented in the Sermon on the Mount. No other philosophy has ever touched so high a point or presented so noble a conception of human life. In it purity of heart is made the test, mercy is enjoined, humility emphasized, forgiveness commanded and love made the law of action. In that Sermon He pointed out the beginnings of evil, rebuked those who allowed themselves to be engrossed by the care of the body and gave to the world that brief, simple and incomparable prayer which the Christian world repeats in unison. If in other places He relieved those whose sufferings came through the infirmities of the flesh, He here offered a calm for the healing of the nations."

Back to the Old Order.

Col. Henry Watterson in his Courier-Journal of August 15th has this to say of the State primary:

What the Democrats of Kentucky most need at this time is a square deal. What too many aspirants for office seem to want is "a little bit of it." Old ideas of honor, of brotherly love and of the party welfare appear to have dropped out, and in lieu of them how to play for advantage, more or less unfair, rules the roost among contemporary file-leaders and party managers.

That which is true of the Democrats is equally and submissively true of the Republicans and the conditions existing in Kentucky do not much vary from those existing in most of the States.

We are living in an age of "practical politics" and too often "practical politics" means double dealing and bad faith, dark deals and bones pious each for himself, the devil to get the highest in every contest from the highest to the lowest.

Thus it is that "practical politics" has become dog-eat-dog politics. It was dead years ago when a Primary Election was called a year in advance of the General Election that we should have a middle before we got well into it. In the beginning the Courier-Journal entrusted its party associates to see this and not to invite trouble. We pointed out that the nomination of such a Primary to start with would give the recipient no clear standing at election. It would carry no moral weight with it and was bound to carry many handicaps in the case of United States Senator. In especial, it would lack all binding force, and would not be worth having. No Legislature chosen a year later would hold itself bound to respect or obey it. In a mixed Legislature, such as we are likely to have, the longest pole would be sure "to beat the pessimism."

Whoever may have been responsible for such an unwise proceeding in the face both of reason and popular sentiment. The assessed money charges sent out the poor man altogether. No body but moneyed men enter. It seems to have some sinister design. Yet, may it never be said of any Democratic leader in Kentucky—

"He digged a spit—he digged it deep,
He digged it for his brother;
But, for his sin,
He tumbled in
The hole he meant for t'other."

Better call the whole thing off, gentlemen. It begins to smell already, and before you are done with it, it will stink. And, in that event, what of the campaign to follow? The Democrats owe their possession of Kentucky to the famous blind folly of the Republicans rather than any merit, of wisdom of their own. More unpopular leadership than we have commonly had could hardly be convinced. It is only a question of time when, if it be persevered in, we shall lose the State.

The Courier-Journal is indifferent who fill the offices so that the people control the electorate, whether the electorate takes the form of the old-fashioned Convention or the new-fashioned Primary. On the whole, we prefer the Convention because we think old ways are best. The Primary under existing conditions is too complicated. It offers too many opportunities for the rich and unscrupulous to get in their work. One of these days the people will just rear back on their hind legs and, when they do, the "practical politicians" will hear something drop which they will never forget. As a disinterested monitor, the Courier-Journal again sends a note of warning. As the enemy of none of the factions, or the aspirants, but the would-be friend of them all—that is of all who are honest men and true Democrats—it tells them that they are traveling over uncertain ground by these dubious paths; that there are sinkholes ahead, and that, unless they re-establish themselves in the public confidence, they will soon, or late, fall upon a ground swell.

There is but one way to secure any firm footing and that is to do right. He who sees this and acts upon it will most of all in the long run command himself. And so we say, with prejudice to no one, down with the practical black flag of dog-eat-dog practical politics, and up with the banner of Democracy, both untarnished and uninterfered, bearing not the names of greed, self-seeking men but of great, enduring measures; the Restoration of the State to their proper place in the National orbit and the step of the onward sweep of Federal Centralization and Aristocracy, the total rejection of the Money Power, whatever it projects its head above the horizon which justly bounds the fairly granted franchise and protects the rights of property. To the law; the reduction of the Tariff Schedules to a Revenue basis for the support, and only the support, of the General Government, economically administered.

Put no man in office who sets his ambition above these doctrines of Democracy, or who may be suspected of preferring himself to his party and his country. Let us upon the threshold of a whole-hearted renunciation of Democrats and a return to power as a result of that renunciation, return to first principles. There was a time when no man could do a shady action in Kentucky and politically live. There was a time when the party law was the will of the majority. Integrity was not just a premium it was the standard, and no aspirant dared submit himself to so much as the intimation of unfairness. The field was as clear as sunshine and as open as the day. The people who still have the word and draw the water and pay the taxes and vote the ticket want to see something more than personal self-seeking among their public men, and their sense of pride in their public men is not yet lost for the lack of the wit and learning and genuine and eloquence which once distinguished Kentucky in the National Councils, and which they hope to see once again at the fore-front of the battle as in the days of Crittenden and Clay and Harbin, of the Breckenridge and the Marshalls.

In short and in line, call the damned thing off, and give a poor man a chance to get a nomination, as in days of yore, without money and without price.

OUR DEAR GIRLS IN PARIS

Get Obnoxious Newspaper Publicity—Fault Probably, of New York Dailies—Are Not "Peaches."

(Newspaperman, New York.)

The nonsense written in the New York newspapers about Colonel Watterson's bunch of Kentucky girls on the way of their departure for abroad, to enjoy a tour under the auspices of the Louisville Courier Journal has brought upon the heads of the young ladies here or less adverse comment on the part of certain Paris journals. To the uninitiated, the stories in the New York papers led them to believe Colonel Watterson's sensible, self-respecting young women were nothing more nor less than so many beautiful, peach-faced, art-like shaped girls. When the Frenchmen clapped their eyes on them there were many mutterings of disapproval. To make matters worse, the newspapermen of Paris believed the stories from our side of the pond. As a consequence the French public and the press as the first offender and instigator, are showing singular lack of gallantry in its treatment of Kentucky girls.

Against all the facts it has been assumed, or pretended, that these girls represent the "survival of the fittest" in beauty show, instead of having been selected for their popularity.

As a matter of fact the visitors are happy and healthy young women, conspicuous neither for rare features nor for what the French consider sartorial elegance. But five hundred Parisians gathered at the station to see the transatlantic beauty en masse and from fifteen hundred to two thousand waiting at the hotel showed almost indignation at their foolish disappointment.

As the girls struggled out of the train with their "grapes" and waited for the omnibus there was at first silence, then here and there a laugh, then a voice uncompromisingly murmured, "We can do better than this in Paris," and "So these are American peaches, are they? Well, our home fruit is more tempting." "Peach," which the London correspondents passed on to Paris, threatens to forthwith become accepted French. All the papers use it and it has already been applied to French women.

L'Esprit distinguished itself by a mocking article. It declares that it finds the beauty of the visitors only a bluff. Another remarks "Never did feet so immense prop so little coquetry." Surprise is expressed that one of the first places they visited in Paris was the Morgue, which no decent French woman thinks of entering. Their explanation is that through some strange misunderstanding they thought they were being taken to the Zoological Gardens, and that all fell when they were introduced to the legions of overstretched bodies.

Photographers follow the American girls all around town. Most of the girls indignantly shield their faces or deliberately shake their heads. As a result, the pictures printed more than justify the host impression.

All their movements are published at great length, making excellent "silly season" matter. One paper even asserts gravely that they live in nesting chairs evenings and are fed mainly on lead water and cactuses.

REVOLT A FAILURE.

Some Workmen Refuse to Join the Cause Against Czar.

St. Petersburg. — It is not yet time to assert with any degree of certainty what will be the outcome of the general strike ordered as a revolt against the dissolution of the duma and the reestablishment of bureaucratic rule.

Telegrams from the interior throw little light on the manner in which the country may be expected to respond to the call for a strike. There is no cessation in the number of robberies and murders in St. Petersburg, met with only slight response in other sections of Russia, and probably will be decided with an adverse expression of public opinion.

The lack of union among leaders of the proletarian organizations is playing against the success of the movement. The council of workmen's deputies, which met secretly at Turok, Finland, was so intimidated at the time it displayed by railroad men that it decided to resort if necessary to blowing up bridges and destruction of road beds, etc., to bring transportation to a standstill. Representatives of all the revolutionary parties and emissaries from Moscow, Kiev, Riga, Odessa and other cities were present at the meeting. The telegraphers thus far were appealed to in vain.

SHIP STRUCK A REEF.

In the Pacific That Followed Many Lives Were Lost.

Cartagena, Spain. — The Italian steamship Sirio, which sailed from Genoa Aug. 2 for South America with 500 passengers on board, was wrecked off Hormigas island and 300 emigrants were drowned, most of them Italians and Spaniards.

Those rescued from the vessel are at Cape Patos in a pitiable condition, being without food or clothing. The disaster occurred while the steamer was threading a difficult passage through the Hormigas group, where the major Hormigas reef is a continual menace to navigation. The vessel began to settle rapidly immediately after she struck, and a terrible scene of confusion and panic ensued on board. Fishermen along the coast sought to render every assistance in their power, and sent out boats which brought many survivors ashore. Most of the officers and crew of the Sirio are among the saved.

The official account confirms the report that the wreck was due to the captain's impudence in attempting to close to the Hormigas shoals in order to save time.

Swindling Schemes.

Mexico City. — Three Americans, Fred Jones, Jerome Turner and W. J. Wilson, were sentenced to Belem prison, charged with swindling American tourists. It is alleged they lured victims to the bell tower of a cathedral, induced them to gamble, and when the latter would protest a bogus detective would come on the scene and frighten the losers into silence.

New Trial For Mrs. Morehouse. — Worcester, O. — Mrs. Emma Morehouse, convicted of manslaughter for causing the death of a babe by poisoning, will get a new trial. Judge Eason set aside the verdict of the jury, holding that the verdict was not warranted by the evidence. Mrs. Morehouse is the woman who was accused of poisoning a baby farm near West Salem.

Gen. and Mrs. D. R. Murray, of Hardinsburg, are at the Tar Springs.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out. — Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. If it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. It is frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back of the loins. It is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge as often expressed that Dr. Kline's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and get up many times during the night. BANKERS FLEE. Are Officially Declared to Be Fugitives From Justice. — Chicago. — Although the two principal officers of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank are missing, one of its officials is under arrest.

The whereabouts of Theodore Stensland, vice president of the bank and son of the missing banker, was a mystery to the authorities. Chief of Police Collins got into communication with him by telephone and secured his promise to meet him in conference.

Subsequently Theodore Stensland was arrested on a charge of violating the banking laws of the state. The specific charge on which he was arrested was that of having accepted deposits at the bank when he knew the institution to be insolvent.

The arrest was made in the office of Chief of Police Collins, where Stensland went to confer with the head of the police department.

Paul O. Stensland, the millionaire president of the bank, has been officially declared a fugitive from justice. With his personal description in the hands of the police everywhere and his bank in the possession of a receiver, horrid developments showed a deplorable state of finances extending over a term of years.

NO CAUSE FOR DISPUTE

lap Poachers Will Be Treated the Same as Burglars.

THEIR RAID WAS DISASTROUS

They Found They Were Not Dealing With Russians When They Got Within Range of Guns in the Hands of United States Officials—Not an International Incident.

Washington. — No fear is felt here of any trouble with Japan over the shooting of five Japanese in the Alaskan seal fields.

The Japanese charge, Mr. Miyako, called at the state department for information about the killing of the Japanese. He had received no dispatches from his government concerning the affair, and Acting Secretary Bacon gave him the same information sent to Ambassador Wright.

Seals are recognized as property by international law, and the Japanese killed on St. Paul island stand in the same position as burglars shot in the act of stealing, according to prominent authorities on international law. No international incident can result from the shooting of the Japanese poachers. It is snafu at the state department. This government has no amends to make to Japan, other than those that courtesy may prompt and a mere expression of regret that such an incident should take place is all that is looked for. Japan has no treaty obligations which in any way require her to protect seals in the Bering sea.

After discussing the matter with Mr. Bacon, Mr. Miyako agreed that it was not a case covered by an international incident, and that it was similar to other clashes that have occurred between citizens of one country on the soil of another.

The following contains the main features of the dispatch of Solicitor St. Paul island, where the Japanese poachers were killed, but raiders were eventually expelled as a result of courageous action of Chief Agent Lemley.

On the morning of July 17 two native watchmen shot and killed two and wounded one of an armed landing party. Crews of the law enforcement of a dense fog, shot seals in water close to shore most of day. During this time shotgun firing, which could be easily heard from shore, was frequent. Unknown how many seals were killed in this manner, but number must have been considerable."

Acting Attorney General Russell has given no instructions to the United States attorney at Valdez, where it is presumed the Japanese poachers will be tried. Whether the department takes any part in the matter will depend entirely on developments.

The United States attorney there is under general instructions to prosecute all cases of seal poaching. It is presumed at the department that he will proceed under these instructions. The active agents of the United States government in the matter which resulted in the killing and wounding of the Japanese poachers are Walter L. Lemley of Philadelphia and James Judge of Columbus, O. Lemley is the chief agent at the fur seal fisheries of Alaska and Judge is one of his assistant agents. Both are located on St. Paul island of the Pribilof group.

Lemley has been in the service about 15 years. He is held in high regard by the officials of the department, who say that he is able, conservative and thoroughly trustworthy. His business is to guard the seal rookeries, particularly during the breeding season, which is now the killing season, between May 1 and Sept. 15. Judge has been in the service about 12 years and is a very experienced official.

The native guards referred to in the dispatch of Solicitor St. Paul island who reside on the island. Congress makes an appropriation for their support and they practically are wards of an government. The Indians eke out an existence by working for the North American Commercial company, skimming the seals which the company is permitted to take under its concessions from the United States. There are 115 of these guards on St. Paul island.

Japan Awaits Details. — Tokyo. — The Japanese government does not yet possess any details of the Alutian incident, and is therefore not in a position to express its views. The news is generally received with regret and the hope is expressed that no unpleasant complication will develop.

For Congress.
HON. BEN JOHNSON

"When sister wears her elbow gloves."

Her little brother mocks,
And calls attention to himself
As wearing elbow socks."

The farmers in Hancock county have pooled 85 per cent of their present crop of tobacco. What are the farmers in Breckenridge doing along this line?

We have a piece of corn in our truck patch with the ears so high above the ground that we have to use a step ladder to reach them. This corn was planted July 4. If it had been planted on time there is no telling where it would have gone to. I treat corn year in old Breckenridge.

Col. E. A. Gullion of New Castle, has announced his candidacy for Superintendent of Public Instruction. There is no man better fitted or equipped for the place than Col. Gullion. A man with large experience in school work and a man of high character and standing. He would make an ideal Superintendent. Here's hoping the Colonel may get there.

The citizens and business men of Breckenridge county should not be slow to recognize the movement on foot at Hardinsburg for the founding and establishment of a county fair. Such a movement should be given so great an impetus by the moneyed men of the county that its purpose shall be forthcoming by the fall of 1907. Every county of any wealth, progress and enterprise supports a county fair, which in fact and in truth is but a clearing-house of all its people's works and ideas brought together in order that there may be a closer communion of these things. Should not Breckenridge county, just now in a spirit of glory and triumph, just now at a time of unprecedented wealth and progressiveness, blossom forth and give life to a county fair and proclaim abroad and afar her wealth and opportunities, her peace and her happiness? Let every man, who has by the grace of God, been permitted to live in glorious old Breckenridge county, give vent to the founding of a county fair in a substantial way.

Col. Harry Summers-Greeting to Ky. Press: There never was a time in the history of the world when the press exercised such an influence as it does today. Its power for good has been recently demonstrated in uncovering the frauds in life insurance companies and the criminal negligence in the great packing houses. It has exposed and sent to prison some of the greatest grafters of the age and destroyed the political power of some of the most prominent men in the country who have not been doing right.

The Kentucky Press is doing its part in the great movement of the age. It is stimulated with a desire to render service to the public. Most of the Kentucky editors are not only men of character and intelligence, but they are men of courage, who stand out boldly in their advocacy of those things that make for the improvement of politics, education, commercial development and the advancement of the people. The country editor to-day is especially a light on the watch tower of progress and righteousness. No man has a greater opportunity to help his community and his country, than the editor of a clean country newspaper and as a rule he is exercising it according to his ability. Whatever progress and advancement Kentucky has made in the last decade, it owes more of it to the press than any other agency.

To day over a hundred of these numbers of public opinion will be in Elizabethtown for an hour. We regret that their stay is necessarily so short, but brief as it is, we want to extend to them on behalf of all the citizens of Elizabethtown a cordial welcome to our city and to all we have. We cannot do them too much honor.

These words of Col. Harry sunk deep into the hearts of all the boys, and the royal welcome extended by the good citizens of Elizabethtown will live in the memory of every member of the Association as one of the shortest and sweetest occasion of its history. We never saw a finer looking crowd of men and women, every one of whom gave you a hearty welcome.

BRYAN HAS A RIVAL.

He's Out in Iowa Campaigning
With a Silk Hat And a Wheel Barrow.

Andrew Townsend Hisey, the originator of "secular government" and candidate for Governor of Iowa by petition, started yesterday on his water-barrow campaign of the State.

He carries about fifty pounds of baggage with him, says the Clinton (La.) Herald. All of it is his literature, except a waterproof lantern for the protection of his silk hat from now and then showers and also to protect his petition to the Executive Council to get his name on the ballot.

He is taking a northwesterly course, making Sioux City his objective point. On arriving there he will at once interview Mr. Perkins and expects after a few moments conversation with the sage of the Northwest to get him to withdraw.

Having accomplished this, he will take a southeasterly course to Des Moines, where he will appear in the executive chamber and proceed to secure the withdrawal of Gov. Cummins. This he expects he will do with but little trouble.

During his trip he will spend his nights at farmhouses, thus getting in perfect touch with the great rural elements of the State.

Mr. Hisey has great ambitions, as he expects to be a candidate for President in 1908. He declares that he is the only man who can defeat Col. Bryan, and that when elected he will take care of Mr. Perkins. Major Rathbun and Gov. Cummins.

TROUBLE WITH TROOPS

Race Feeling at Brownsville, Texas, Is Running High.

SOLDIERS KEPT IN QUARTERS

State Guard in Camp Anxious to Get a Crack at Colored Regulars—Governor Ordered Rangers to the Scene—Business Entirely Suspended and Further Trouble Is Feared.

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 17.—Since the recent raid by negro soldiers from Fort Brown race feeling here is running high.

Further trouble is expected with the negro troops. A citizen's guard of 150 men is stationed along the road between this city and Fort Brown, and if the negro soldiers attempt to leave the garrison it is the avowed policy of the citizens to shoot them down. There were 400 Winchester rifles sold to citizens. The report that officers of the garrison are afraid of the negro troops determined the citizens to take no chance. Many people are leaving their homes on the side of the city near Fort Brown. An official appeal was made to Governor Lanham to send state troops. Business is entirely suspended here.

It is reported the Texas National Guard troops attending the maneuvers at Camp Mabey are planning to be sent to Brownsville. Sensational rumors influenced the militiamen. It is now believed the negro radicals committed the recent acts in Brownsville in retaliation for the reported intention of Texas militiamen to use belt cartridges in the event the United States permitted the negro troops to participate in the Camp Mabey maneuvers. Adjutant General Hullin considers it unwise to send state troops here.

The committee sent a most urgent message to President Roosevelt, Senators Bailey and Governor Lanham, detailing the outrage and stating that after two days' dilatory inquiries it has been found that no blame attaches to the citizens, and asking that the negroes be replaced by white troops. The message states that there have been made by the soldiers that they will break up again and burn the town down and if the military commission's action is not conciliatory the citizens and senators are implored to do all they can to secure the removal of the negro troops.

It is said the government investigation will result in a court-martial for one or more officers.

SHORT SHIRT.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 17.—Within the shadow of the home of his victim, Miss Jennie Blyden, after having been identified by her and after Governor Haywood addressed the mob in vain, Bob Davis, the negro who murdered a white man, was hanged. AWFUL PSORIASIS 35 YEARS

Terrible Scaly Humor in Patches All Over the Body—Skin Cracked and Bleeding—Itching Unbearable—Cured by Cuticura in Thirty Days at Cost of $4.75.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"I was afflicted with psoriasis for thirty-five years. It was in patches all over my body. I used three cakes of Soap, six boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and a few bottles of Cuticura. The cure was complete. The skin was perfectly cured, and I feel better than I have for many years."

The psoriasis first made its appearance in red spots, generally forming a circle, leaving in the center a spot of healthy skin. In a short time the affected flesh would form a heavy dry scale, which gradually peeled off. To remove the entire scales by bathing with Cuticura. The scales would be perfectly raw, and a light discharge of bloody substance would come from the raw center. The form again in twenty-four hours. It was worse on my arms and limbs, although it was on my head all over my body, also on my scalp. If I let the scale remain too long without removing it, the scales on my head would crack and bleed. I suffered intense itching worse at night after getting warm in bed, and blood would be excreted, when it would be almost unbearable.

"To cure it all up, I would not go through such another ordeal of affliction for thirty-five years for the State of Kansas."—(Signed) W. W. Childers, Hutchinson, Kan., April 20, 1905.

ANOTHER BANK

in Receiver's Hands on Account of Failure of Stensland.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—The Garfield Park bank at 2024 West Madison street was placed in the hands of a receiver by Judge Bethes in the United States district court. Three creditors of the bank, claiming to be several thousand dollars, filed the petition in court, asking that Ellis E. Drake, president of the institution, as well as the bank, be declared insolvent. The assets of the bank are not given in the petition. The court appointed Harry Hestland receiver, fix a bond at $10,000. The Milwaukee Avenue bank failure is said to have caused the smaller institution to close. Since the failure of the Milwaukee bank, the depositors in the Garfield Park bank withdrew deposits. When the three creditors who asked for the receiver went to the bank for their money they were given no satisfaction, and the court's action followed. Drake declared that he is solvent, and if given time to dispose of certain securities he will be able to pay all creditors in full.

Boyle County Farmer Gives Himself Up and Says He Hired a Man for Burning Barns—Physician Assaulted by a Negro.

Danville, Ky., Aug. 13.—John Weisler's big stock barn, valued at $5,000, located one mile from here, burned 10 days ago.

At the time it was supposed the fire started by spontaneous combustion which was owing to the fact that the loft had just been filled with new hay. James Spaulding, a wealthy planter residing three miles from town, drove his carriage to the jailer's residence, stepped to the door and rang the bell. The officer responded, and Spaulding instructed his driver to take the carriage home, then informed the jailer that he burned the Weisler barn and asked to be locked up.

He said he had no ill will toward Mr. Weisler, but that at times he just felt mean, and that his great desire was to burn barns. Spaulding was taken before Judge Nichols, where he again stated his case, and was ordered to jail to await his examining trial. Spaulding has a wife and three small children. The family is among the most prominent of the county.

VOYER'S RIGHTS

In Primary Elections, As Viewed by a Kansas City Court.

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—In the circuit court it was decided by Judge Brumback that it is contrary to the constitution of the United States for a political committee to make an arbitrary ruling defining what members of the party should have the right to vote at primary elections, basing the ruling on how the members of the party voted at the last state election.

Justice Brumback declared that the ballot is sacred under the constitution, and that no political party has the right to investigate and find out how a man voted at the last election. The present committee rules that no man who had not voted the party ticket at the last state election had the right to vote at the approaching county primary election, and the members of the party who had not voted the straight party ticket at the last state election appealed to the circuit court to stay the action of the committee.
